SECONDARY SCHOOL GETS THE GO-AHEAD

New college will welcome Year 7 pupils and sixth-formers by 2020

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

BURNT Mill Academy Trust will open a new secondary school and sixth form in Harlow to meet demand for places.

Eight years after Brays Grove school closed due to dwindling pupil numbers, Sir Frederick Gibberd College (SFGC) will welcome an eight-form Year 7 entry in 2018 and 250 A-level students from 2020.

BMAT announced plans in October last year to demolish the former Passmore School on Tendring Road and construct a free school funded by the government but outside of local authority control.

Education Secretary Justine Greening has now formally approved SFGC as one of 77 new schools to be built nationally.

Helena Mills, BMAT's chief executive, said: "We are delighted our exciting vision has won official approval.

Support

"Thank you to all those who provided feedback and support with our bid, without your input we wouldn't have been successful.

"We were overwhelmed by the number of families supporting our bid, especially those wanting an academic A-level provision.

"We will be working hard with the local community over the next 12 months to ensure the brand new building will be ready for the first group of children in 2018."

SFGC will become the sixth standard entry secondary school in Harlow. The catchment area will be for residents of the CM18 post code and it will be opposite Harlow

THE FUZZ: The Polish officers and their Essex counterparts

Polish police force on the beat after death

Officers in the UK as a show of unity and for support

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

POLISH police joined Harlow officers on the beat in a show of unity as a murder investigation continues.

Press photographers flanked the two foreign officers who completed the patrol alongside Essex Police whose chief constable Stephen Kavanagh stated a desire to engage with Polish residents.

This follows an assault at The Stow, Harlow, in August.

Polish national Arkadiusz Jozwik, 40, died from injuries resulting from a single punch, while one of his friends was taken to hospital with injuries.

Two Polish men were also assaulted in Harlow town centre in the early hours of Sunday, September 4, and were taken to Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital but later discharged.

Essex Police said one line of investigation is that both incidents could be hate crimes.

Chief sergeant Dariusz Tybura, of Polish State Police, said: "We have been welcomed very warmly by both the Polish and the British communities here.

"They often approach us to have a friendly chat, and sometimes raise some issues."

His colleague second lieutenant Bartosz Czernicki, of Polish State Police, said: "The aim of the visit is to establish co-operation with the local Polish community and make it easier for them to report various incidents to the police."

An Essex Police spokeswoman said the visit was only to support community engagement. While both officers were in uniform they did not have police powers and played no role in the murder probe.

Six teenagers were arrested in connection to Mr Jozwik's death and have been bailed.

Harlow has become the centre of international media attention. Jean-Claude Junker, president of the European Commission, said he would never accept Polish workers being beaten and harassed.

Figures show 31 potential hate crimes were reported in the UK since the European Union referendum.

Arkady Rzegocki, the Polish ambassador to the UK, was one of 700 to march from The Stow to Harlow town centre earlier this month in Mr Jozwik's memory.

On Broad Walk and The High, where Polish officers, passed through, Harlow residents had mixed reactions to the patrol.

Tom Flynn said: "I never thought I would see the day Polish police officers would patrol Harlow."

"I would say it's really distressing. I don't know where the violence has come from."

Another resident, who wished to remain anonymous, added: "Last time I saw a copper it was a weekend and that was ages ago."

"I'm not being funny, but this country is getting stupid."

Essex Police chief inspector Alan Ray said: "We are getting mixed messages, but you will get that from any community."

Police investigation after crash injures four people

FOUR men were injured after a car collided with a lorry in Roydon, sparking a police investigation.

The serious crash at 6am on Sunday involved a silver Mazda containing four men travelling from Nazeing towards Harlow along Tylers Road, Roydon.

It collided with an articulated LGV travelling in the opposite direction. The road was closed for eight hours for forensic scene examination and vehicle recovery.

The 35-year-old driver of the Mazda was taken to Royal London Hospital with serious injuries and his condition is described as stable.

A rear seat passenger, aged 45, was taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge with serious injuries and his condition is described as critical but stable.

Two other passengers were taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow with minor injuries.

The lorry driver, aged 52, was uninjured.

Anybody who witnessed the collision or saw the Mazda being driven prior to the collision are asked to contact PC Ian Tappin at Chigwell road policing unit on 101.

Charity challenge for hospice staff member

Jade Clarke has helped dozens of fundraisers with tasks

Katherine Cowles

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AFTER helping scores of fundraisers achieve their dreams, a St Clare Hospice staff member is lacing up for her own adventure.

Jade Clarke, the charity's events co-ordinator, will trek 95km across the jungles and rice paddies of Cambodia in November in her bid to raise £2,800 for the charity she has worked for since June last year.

The 23-year-old from Harlow said: "Over the past year I have supported hundreds of brave St Clare fundraisers to take part in epic challenges for the Hospice.

"I have helped literally dozens of people to skydive, walk across fire, run marathons and even cycle across Europe.

"Not only that, but I have come into contact with heroic patients and families who are going through one of life's toughest journeys.

"It has been witnessing, day in and day out, this incredible bravery, and the amazing work of all the clinical teams at St Clare, that motivated me to sign myself up to the trek."

Miss Clark begins her five-day walk in November. In temperatures topping 30°C she will walk through valleys and low-lying plains before arriving at Angkor Wat, the ancient capital of the Khmer Empire, which is the largest religious monument in the world.

WORDS: Words

She will complete the walk as part of a team organised by organisation Global Adventure Challenges.

So far she has managed to raise £2,220 towards her goal, a figure that was recently boosted by her own Big Brew at the Hastingwood hospice.

While the tea party was a piece of cake compared to her Cambodian adventure the event managed to raise more than £550 to leave her within striking distance of her goal.

St Clare Hospice is a charity providing specialist palliative care for people living with terminal or life-limiting illnesses on the West Essex and East Hertfordshire border.

Miss Clarke added: "The families I meet at the Hospice just make me feel in awe of their strength. I will be trekking with the thought of every single one of those people in my head.

"The thought of a Hospice can be such a daunting thing for many people and before I worked here I was also oblivious to what they are really like.

"St Clare is the most happy and uplifting place I could ever imagine working in."

Plan to start new school gets strong support from parents

Fields School and College.

Passmore School, where Channel 4 series Educating Essex was filmed, moved to Tracys Road upon becoming an academy in 2012 – the former site of Brays Grove.

BMAT runs secondary school Burnt Mill Academy and primary academies Freshwaters, Little Parndon and Cooks Spinney in Harlow, as well as Roydon Primary Academy and Forest Hall secondary school and Magna Carta Primary Academy in Stansted Mountfitchet.

The sixth form would be the third centre in Harlow to offer A-level studies and the subjects available will be those favoured by the Russell Group universities.

The trust will press ahead after gathering the required 750 signatures in support from residents and receiving the blessing of Essex County Council.

Upon launching the bid, Ms Mills said: "Parents have been coming up to me and asking me if we could start another school because there is such a demand for Burnt Mill.

"It needs to be understood that a free school was announced because there is a need, rather than this being Burnt Mill Academy wanting to take over the town."

Time

BMAT originally planned to open the sixth form to A-level students from 2017 but this has been pushed back to allow Year 7 students extra time to settle.

SFGC was originally to be named The Burnt Mill Academy of Excellence and the First Avenue secondary re-branded Burnt Mill – The Academy but the name was changed to avoid confusion and honour the legacy of town designer Sir Frederick Gibberd.

Earlier this year BMAT was criticised by trade union Unison Eastern after the academy held consultations into making 140 staff redundant across the board following government funding cuts for academies.

But the trust confirmed the redundancy consultation was a separate issue and would not impact on the quality of teaching at the new school.

ROUND-TABLE DISCUSSION: William & Kate chat to parents at Stewards Academy
Pictures by Alison Jenkins

Mums and dads get Heads Together with Will & Kate

SEVEN mothers and a father raised their mental health concerns with the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge.

As part of their work with the Heads Together campaign the pair discussed common issues parents have with teenagers who are coping with changes and discussing problems.

Heads Together has launched an online resource called Ten Tips for Talking which gives parents guidance on how to deal with youngsters who may be unwilling to open up.

The visit also promoted the work of Place2Be, the leading mental health charity for children which can offer counselling and guidance.

During the meeting William, a father to two, said: "I admire the layers of pressure children are under in this age. We can see how young people can buckle." Kate added: "That's why services like this are so essential."

Afterwards, mother Sandra Oliver, of Archers, Harlow, said: "It was an amazing experience and they were really natural."

"They will be going through the same experience in a few years. This was really positive."

"I can say they are really patient to take time out to visit us and show us they care."

Nervous

Another mother in the discussion, Karen Rushbrooke, of Harlow, added: "I had not been nervous at all but it suddenly hit home. But I found them easy to talk to, they really want to know more."

Steve Dodd, a father from Church Langley, Harlow, said: "Some schools are afraid to keep mental health services going because of the funding. "Mental health is so diverse and it affects people in different ways."

"Here the door is always open."

ROYAL ASCENT: William & Kate climb steps into a school block

Royal couple praise Harlow school as 'beacon of caring'

Duke and Duchess visit academy as part of mental health campaign

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE Duke and Duchess of Cambridge visited Stewards Academy on what was widely hailed as a proud day for Harlow.

William and Catherine toured the Parnall Road secondary school on Friday to talk about mental health on behalf of Heads Together, a campaign for which they are ambassadors.

Addressing an assembly of Year 7 pupils, the Duke said: "Thank you for this back-to-school experience."

"I am a bit nervous, as I was never much good at public speaking at school and I am not much better now. We are impressed with what we have seen at Stewards Academy."

Support

"We have decided to use our positions to support mental health. It's about getting people talking. The opposite of talking is isolation and sometimes talking is an important step. It's natural to feel overwhelmed or sad at times. Everyone needs someone to turn to, someone to trust. It's a big admission but we think it's very important."

He added: "Thank you to Stewards Academy for supporting the campaign. We can get through big changes together to achieve big things."

"Good luck to all for the new school year."

The Royal pair arrived slightly behind schedule on a wet morning to scores of awaiting photographers and residents hoping to catch a glimpse of the couple.

The High Sheriff of Essex Lorna Rolfe, Harlow MP Robert Halfon and Harlow Council chairman Edna Stevens welcomed the Duke and Duchess.

Vice Lord Lieutenant of Essex Jonathan Douglas-Hughes slipped on wet paving and was helped to his feet by William.

He said: "Sorry about that," to which the Duke replied: "No, it's all right".

William and Kate then took

part in a lesson with 11 Year Eight students focused on talking about changes in the life of teenagers.

As they emerged from the following assembly the pair were then greeted by applause by the rest of the school and led into a classroom to have a further conversation with parents about mental health.

Rhonda Murthar, head teacher, said afterwards: "The weather could have cost us, but we managed."

"They (The Duke and Duchess) said the school is a beacon in caring for young people. The children are brimming with pride."

Kate was presented with flowers but passed them onto a resident as she climbed into the car to leave.

Heads of school are thrilled by their role as royal chaperones

Callum and Lucie found their distinguished guests easy to get along with

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

STUDENTS at Stewards Academy played a large role in the success of the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge's visit to Harlow.

Head boy Callum and head girl Lucie, both 15, showed William and Kate around the school, striking up conversations with the Royal couple in between visits to classes.

Callum said afterwards: "It was amazing. I talked to him about rugby. My favourite moment was when they went outside (from the assembly hall) onto the balcony."

Braved

The Duke and Duchess were greeted by students from different year groups who had braved the pouring rain to cheer and wave flags.

"It was worth all the early mornings of preparation," Callum added.

Lucie said: "It has been a privilege to be part of this and we feel very lucky."

"It's something the students will remember forever."

Eleven Year 8 students missed their usual English and science classes to discuss big changes experienced by teenagers in a PSHE type lesson.

The session was led by Year 10 peer mentors Max, Emily, Hannah and Hilary while the Duke sat next to 12-year-old Kai and the Duchess next to Megan, who is also 12.

All students talked about the biggest change in their life and how they were able to cope.

The Duke said afterwards: "You should be leading the Heads Together campaign, you are speaking such sense. Thank you for sharing stories with us."

William then turned to 12-year-old Franklin who said he managed to cope with a tough time through his love for football.

He asked the Year 8 student which team he supported, to which Chelsea was the reply. "Just when I thought we would get along," joked The Duke, who supports Aston Villa.

Help kids to stay safe

Sir, Last year was a great year for the NSPCC school service. My volunteers and I reached more primary school children than ever before during our workshops and assemblies - helping to keep them safe from abuse and empowering them to speak out about any worries they may have.

Last year, we spoke with more than 11,421 children in Essex through 157 school visits.

Now the new term has started, my team and I are looking forward to talking to even more children aged between four and 11, but we need your help.

The 'Speak Out, Stay Safe' programme is enormously important as it gives children the language and confidence they need to talk about their worries, and the knowledge they need to keep themselves safe.

I can't do that without the help of volunteers.

Can you help?

Volunteering is a fantastic way to give something back whilst also learning new skills and meeting new people.

The NSPCC, and our friendly team of volunteers, give you all the training and support you need to feel confident in your role.

With a minimum commitment of as little as three morning or afternoon visits a month, you can make a big difference to children.

For more information visit: <https://www.nspcc.org.uk/what-you-can-do/volunteer-or-work-for-us/volunteer-childline-schools-service/>

The kindness of strangers

Sir, On Thursday about 6pm I drove past BP Southern Way and let a bus out. I noticed a lady lying on the ground, parked and went back to her.

She had fallen and appeared to have broken a bone in her wrist. The lad at the bus stop phoned for an ambulance and handled

THIS picture, taken in Parndon Wood as the moon was rising one evening recently was taken by keen amateur photographer, Harlow resident and member of the Harlow Star Tog Squad Casey Garrett.

If you have a photograph you have taken in or around Harlow which you would like to be featured in the Star, email a high resolution, landscape copy in JPEG format, along with a brief description of where and when it was taken, to kerigh.palmer@hertssexnews.co.uk.

hertssexnews.co.uk.

Please remember to include your name and address and caption your mail subject box "Star POW" all the questions. Another guy parked up and bought her a bottle of water and stayed with us.

Several people stopped in the traffic and also came over to make sure all was being done and a lady at the garage gave us a blanket.

A lovely lady paramedic parked up and took over doing all the right things, stood down the ambulance and took her to A & E herself.

In the short time we were there at least 20 people stopped to make sure all was OK.

They didn't just stop and stare they really cared. Well done!

Who is picking up the bill?

Sir, I read in The Star (September 1) that the local hospital trust has a £411 million deficit. I keep reading about health service deficits but not those in other public services. Are the Army, Navy, Air Force and the House of Lords all now paying for themselves?

Better way to spend money

Sir, Chris Vince's letter in the Star (September 15) commenting on the attacks to Polish nationals in what he calls a deplorable act.

He seems on one hand to be blaming Government cuts for the lack of PCSOs and community policing and on the other hand it's the lack of community involvement.

As always it's the Government or local residents that are to blame for policing problems in Harlow, never the police or local council.

Like most residents I pay my tax and expect 'our' police, in participation with the local community, to manage Government funding and the local council tax contribution to provide the policing that we as residents need and expect.

Instead the police have withdrawn from our streets, closed down the NAPS and I cannot remember the last time they attended our resident groups or anyone in our neighbourhood saw a police officer on patrol, what happened to community mapping, where volunteer residents worked with the police and council to understand local needs and problem hot spots?

In effect they are providing the service they have decided we need, they just keep getting it wrong time after time without being held to account for their actions.

It's the same story with Harlow council, they withdrew from our neighbourhoods abandoning our communities, shut down participation when evidence was showing just how bad parts of the council had become under the present senior management team.

They provide only the services they think we deserve without any accountability for their actions.

There must be a more productive and accountable way to spend 'our' money

Support for sufferers

Sir, Starting a new school year can be daunting for any child, and for children with Type 1 diabetes it can be even more worrying. Having to make sure they are supported when counting the carbohydrates in their food, as well as taking insulin to manage glucose levels would make anyone anxious on top of school work and exams.

Some children are still struggling to get care and support they need to help them manage their diabetes or other health condition and fully participate in school life, despite it being a legal requirement in England since September 2014. This could be putting the child's safety at risk as well as comprising their academic potential.

This is why Diabetes UK has produced a raft of free support and education resources for parents and schools. This includes offering the Care in School Helpline to help concerned parents and hosting the Good Diabetes Care in School Award which exemplifies exactly what good care in schools looks like.

School staff and parents in the East of England can visit our website to get free materials or contact our dedicated helpline with any school related queries. Supported by our National Charity Partnership with Tesco, the Care in School Helpline is staffed by trained volunteers who can provide information about children's rights as well as emotional support for what is usually a stressful time for parents.

To find out what support we offer or to contact the Care in School Helpline, call 0345 123 2399 or visit www.diabetes.org.uk/care-in-school

No advice for me, sadly

Sir, In early August I called into Harlow CAB and the adviser I saw admitted he "did not know" how to advise me.

I sent an email complaining to the head office and received a response.

As I had heard nothing further by the end of August I emailed head office again.

I have still heard nothing more so am now attempting to publicise this.

As Harlow CAB is the only advice service recognised by Harlow Council, and they are being paid a considerable sum of money by Harlow CAB to provide advice, I feel this is a shocking state of affairs.

Pyjamas back in fashion for centenary run

Participants roll out of bed for parkrun

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PARTICIPANTS swapped shorts and vests to compete in pyjamas on the 100th edition of parkrun in Harlow Town Park.

The weekly five kilometre circuit attracted 205 runners on Saturday, falling agonisingly two finishers short of the all-time record.

But with 30 entrants attempting the free and timed event for the first time there was reason for celebration on the birthday.

Vicky Calver, who has been event director since week one, said: "It was really good, it almost broke our attendance record we just needed two more to finish."

"But it was certainly our second biggest ever. It was a really nice atmosphere, there was lots of fun and lots of giggles."

"I think around 30 to 40 per cent of people were wearing pyjamas, it was an easy way to celebrate and I think a lot of people were glad to be wearing them."

Nobody has completed every single edition but some runners come frequently enough to form friendships.

Vicky, 39, of Old Harlow, added: "I absolutely love it, such a simple concept has changed so many lives."

"If people are struggling someone will come back and run it with you and that is the spirit of parkrun."

"When I first started I couldn't ever imagine getting to 100." ■ Parkrun takes place at 9am every Saturday at Harlow Town Park

Tributes to the late ice cream king Mr Softee

Generous Mr Spitali is remembered

William Mata

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

A FRIENDLY ice cream man who went beyond the call of duty is being remembered by his loving family and former customers.

Anselmo Spitali died last month aged 82 at Lister Hospital in Stevenage from a lung condition. His family were by his side.

Mr Spitali was born in Sicily and lived in Ware, but was best known in Harlow where he was loved for his generous nature and friendly banter with customers.

As one of the only Italians connected to the town he was given the nickname Luigi, while his van was called Mr Softee.

Regular former customer Frank O'Hare, 52, of Barn Mead, Harlow, said: "He was a legend."

"At the time there were only two ice cream men, and one of them was Mr Softee."

"He would always put a few penny sweets in your hand for free.

"He always talked to you like you were his only customer and would always remember your name."

"He treated everybody like an individual. I used to think it was just me, but he learnt everybody's names and he made everybody feel special."

Born in 1933 Mr Spitali left Sicily at the age of 17 for France and returned briefly before moving to England in 1967.

He had worked as an ice cream man for 45 years and had been trading in Harlow since the mid-1970s, serving the Kingsland, Woodcroft and Church Leys patches.

Mr O'Hare added: "There are hundreds of people on social media putting comments about how they can't believe he has died. He touched people's lives."

"One of the big things I looked forward to was seeing him parked outside my house every day and I would always get a 99."

"I remember seeing him a few weeks ago and we were talking about all my family who have been to see him over the years."

Mr Spitali leaves behind Paola, his wife of 53 years, and two children, daughter Mariangela, 52, and son Vincenzo, 43.

Mariangela said: "He will be remembered as a hard working man who valued family above everything else."

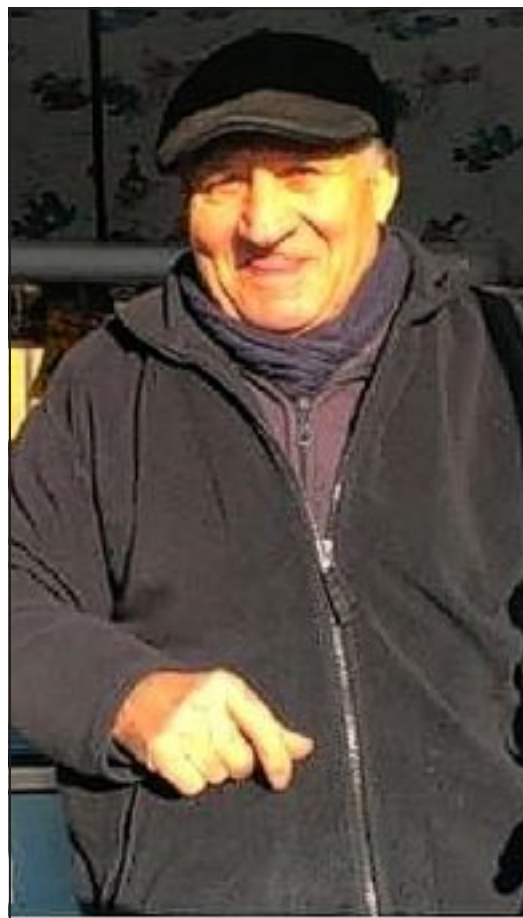

Mr Spitali's last day of work was on Saturday, July 30, and he died on Saturday, August 6.

His funeral was held at Sacred Heart of Jesus and St Joseph Roman Catholic Church in Ware on Wednesday, August 24.

In accordance to his wishes, Mr Spitali was buried by his family's tomb in his home town of Grotte, a village in Sicily.

Donations have been made in his memory to the church in Ware which is looking to build a new parish centre to provide facilities for the community.

Plans for homes are rejected over concerns

A PROPOSAL to build two homes in The Drive, Harlow, was rejected by Harlow's development management committee.

Councillors expressed concerns that land behind both four-bedroom houses, which had integral garages and car parking spaces, could be built on.

The applicant had previously had plans refused to develop number 8 The Drive and 11 neighbours raised written objection to the plans which would see the demolition of two existing bungalows.

The planning officer recommended the committee granted permission but councillors unanimously voted to reject the proposal on Wednesday, September 14.

Councillor Jean Clark said: "There are issues of parking, a loss of trees and the character change to the area." Councillor Mike Garnett added: "We could have two semi-detached houses and end up with additional traffic and everything that goes with it. Sometimes we have to have a conscience."

A resident of High Street, Old Harlow, then addressed the committee with her dispute with Harlow Cricket Club.

The team has installed practice nets to the edge of their field without seeking permission.

After a member of Harlow Cricket Club spoke, the committee determined that consultations should be held before retrospective permission can be granted.

Dogs take lead as rain fails to dampen show

Waggy winners are crowned at church

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DOGS stepped out as owners sheltered under umbrellas at a rain hit show in Harlow.

St Mary's Church in Great Parndon invited animal lovers to parade their pets at the second community dog show on Saturday for a fun competition.

Gill Williams, who organised the event as part of St Mary's Flower Festival, also held at the weekend, said: "It went really well considering it rained."

"If we had the weather we would have had double the number of dogs, but as it was we had 16 entries."

"We had a mixed bunch, some pedigree and a lot of cross breeds. A lot of people brought two dogs."

As the flower festival was in full bloom in the grounds of the Pelton Road church Mrs Williams arranged for the dog show to be held in the car park of the former Glaxo Smith Kline building in Third Avenue, Harlow.

Owners paraded their beloved furry friends in front of judges, some of whom were from Jollys pet shop, of Howard Way, Harlow.

DOG DAYS ARE BACK: Proud owners show off their pets

Prizes were awarded for the best: Crossbreed, veteran, rescue dog, waggiest tail, most handsome hound, prettiest bitch, dog and owner and the dog the judges would most like to take home.

Mrs Williams, 47, of Hawkenbury, Harlow, continued: "It was all just for fun, they all walked out in front of the judges in the pouring rain. Most dogs entered all of the categories.

"It was advertised all over social media and most of the people that came to the show are not regular church members so that was nice."

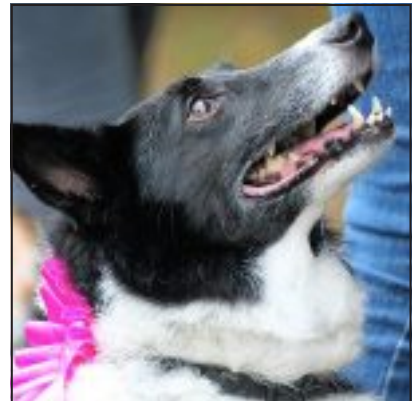

She added: "I could do it again next year, but it might be the year after."

"It has become a very popular event for the church."

Meow-sic to our ears . . .

LISTEN up music lovers, there's a new genre of meow-sic on the scene and this time it's strictly not for human ears. Any proud cat owner will know the animals are sophisticated creatures, but only recently have we discovered our furry feline friends are smart enough to have a genuine appreciation of music. That's why, this October, pet cats around the world will be able to get their claws into a new genre of music with a brand new album composed especially for them. Musician David Teie, who plays in the US National Symphony Orchestra, has created Music for Cats, a CD especially aimed at bringing pleasure to cats who might be excited or distressed. Research has recently discovered that cats, with their exceptional sense of hearing, show positive responses to high-pitch noises in particular, which might remind them of their mother's purring or the sound of singing birds. Universal Music was quick to pounce on David's idea and with nine million cats in the UK alone, they think that the untapped feline market is one to take seriously.

Performing arts school launches second weekly class to meet soaring demand

Dramatic boom for Pauline's academy

Katherine Cowles

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PERFORMING arts school Pauline Quirke Academy has started a second class in Harlow Playhouse to inspire future stars.

For three years talented 14 to 18-year-olds have enjoyed tuition in drama, musical theatre and comedy sessions, which have proved so popular that classes are over-subscribed.

The current session of 12.30pm

to 3.30pm on a Sunday will now be followed by a second session, from 4.30pm to 7.30pm.

To launch the new classes, PQA is offering a free year's scholarship and a free term's membership to the most talented candidates from the new intake of aspiring performers.

Launched

Pauline Quirke, a Bafta award-winning actress, launched the schools in 2007 with her husband and producer Steve Sheen. There are now 20 schools around the county, including one in Bishop's Stortford.

Through the school Harlow actor Isaac Verrall was able to make the step into the big time, and went on to star in the feature film Open All Night.

Lee Ellaway, director of PQA in Harlow, said: "Our modules are all about students having fun as we build their confidence and self-esteem, expand their imaginations and they learn valuable skills essential for everyday life."

"Above all we encourage our students to be amazing, just by being themselves."

Other successes include Bishop's Stortford students Violet Tucker, who played Matilda in the multi-Olivier award-winning musical in the West End.

Scholarship

Fourteen-year-old Guy Trundle, who had success in his scholarship year when he landed a role as one of the Von Trapp children in ITV's history-making broadcast The Sound of Music Live.

PQA Harlow will be hosting a free open day on Sunday, October 2, from 4.15pm to 7.30pm at Harlow Playhouse.

Pupils' workshop with choral director to stars

FROM Beyoncé to Rihanna and One Direction to Andrew Lloyd Webber, renowned choral director Ken Burton has worked with some of the biggest names in the music industry.

Now, he has turned his attention toward the brightest stars of the future at St Mark's West Essex Catholic School, in Tripton Road, Harlow.

On Wednesday last week, Mr Burton led a workshop to launch the new gospel project initiative at the school, which has a strong tradition of singing and musical talent.

The 36-year-old took the reins of the newly formed choir and got the children to their feet, singing and moving in total harmony.

Having judged on Channel 4's Gospel Singers of the Year, BBC Songs of Praise School Choir of the Year and on Gareth Malone's The Choir: Sing While You Work, Ken is more than qualified for the job.

Within the space of an hour the choir showed early signs of success as it mastered gospel's four-part harmony.

Backed by sponsorship from Essex Music Hub and the Friends of St Mark's, the choir has made great progress already and Natasha Coplestone-Crow, head of music at the school, is delighted.

She said: "We were thrilled and honoured when Ken Burton agreed to come to St Mark's.

"Working with him has been a wonderful experience for our pupils and they have gained so much just from this first session."

Mr Burton will be returning later in the month to rehearse the choir before its inaugural performance in St Mark's Got Talent 2016 on October 14.

World's biggest coffee morning in town

Katherine Cowles

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

BUSINESSES and communities across Hertfordshire and Essex are helping Macmillan Cancer Support by hosting events on the charity's annual Coffee Morning.

The event, which is the world's largest coffee morning, is taking place this year on Friday September 30.

Since starting in 1990, the event has gone on to raise more than £138million for people facing cancer, with around £25million being raised last year alone.

In 2015, businesses and communities across Hertfordshire raised £459,250 for Macmillan from 1,988 coffee mornings which were held.

Among the many people across the county showing their support for the event this year are the staff at the Bishop's Stortford Library in Jackson Square.

Local librarian Michelle Jolley said: "We're very excited about first ever Macmillan Coffee Morning event, which will run from ten until noon on Friday, September 30.

"We're expecting several councillors, including Councillor Woodward and Councillor Norma Symonds, to come along and show their support by sharing tea and cake with us.

"As part of the pilot fundraiser, we will also be running our outreach service 'Reminiscence Collection', which helps families and carers to share memories of the past through rummage boxes full of nostalgic, sensory objects and photos.

"As people within the library have been touched by cancer, we've been keen to encourage as many people as possible to come together and raise needed funds for the charity, as well as check out services on offer at the library."

The team at Down Hall Country House will also be providing complementary tea or coffee with every cake purchased from 9am until 11.30am on Friday, September 30.

Hospital ward wins mark

LISTER Ward at Princess Alexandra Hospital has won an award for services to the elderly.

Ward manager Caroline Ashton was presented with the nationally-accredited Quality Mark from the Royal College of Psychiatrists after Lister passed a tough assessment.

She said: "I feel so proud. This hospital trust strives to make all patients feel comfortable and cared for at all times.

"Some of the ways we have done this are by transforming one of our rooms into a reminiscence room for patients with dementia.

"Staff and relatives are able to sit with patients and reflect over previous years with the use of visual aids in an environment that is dementia friendly."

Lister underwent two stages of assessment to achieve the award. Firstly ward staff gathered feedback from patients and healthcare professionals about their service which allowed PAH chiefs to draw up an action plan.

HONOURED: Caroline Ashton

The second stage was passed when PAH received ample feedback about the ward to show their action plan had been followed. Lister met the strict criteria and passed the assessment.

Professor Mike Crawford, director of Royal College of Psychiatrists, said: "Wards participating in the programme send an important message about the way they regard patient experience."

Rail deal is not fare game says Robert Halfon

MP says train journeys are overpriced

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

RAIL fares for Harlow commuters are too high according to town MP Robert Halfon who has attacked Abellio Greater Anglia.

The Conservative politician wrote a critical open letter to Jamie Burles, managing director of Abellio, after the firm secured the London to Cambridge franchise for the next nine years.

Mr Halfon said: "It seems wrong that Harlow tax payers have the worst value commutes than anyone else in the country."

"This is why I have written to Abellio and Paul Maynard MP, the minister responsible for rail, to see what can be done."

"I hope now Abellio Greater Anglia has been awarded the new contract they will do everything they can to keep rail fares low."

The Tory MP pointed out that it costs £3,432 per year for an adult to commute from Harlow Town to London Liverpool Street.

Mr Halfon said the average season ticket price is £2,446 and the journey takes only half an hour.

He added: "Based on average journeys my constituents are paying more per mile than any other commuters and a 13p a mile more than the average commuter."

"Taking into account the quick, simple and direct route that my constituents make when commuting to London for work, they appear to be unfairly overcharged for their journeys."

According to Mr Halfon the average income for a Harlow resident is £27,000 per year, lower than surrounding towns, leaving commuters feeling harder hit.

The MP will meet with chiefs from the Dutch firm next week.

Asked whether Abellio provides a good value for money, commuter Derek Rose, of Harlow, said: "Obviously someone has to have the most expensive ticket in the country but it was a shock that it was the Harlow line. For some reason Broxbourne and Bishop's Stortford is cheaper per mile. If they had a flat fee of 38p per mile it would even it out."

An Abellio spokesman responded: "Rail fare policies are set by the Government."

"The current fares reflect the policies applied over the last 20 years, plus the legacy of past fare initiatives from previous franchise operators and the British Rail era."

"We do offer carnet tickets with ten for the price of nine when bought in advance. We have plans for further initiatives aimed at easing the cost of travel for passengers."

"Our research shows Harlow season ticket prices are comparable to those charged by other train operators around London. We would welcome Mr Halfon's support for train operating companies to have more freedom in setting fares."

"Season ticket fares are tightly regulated, limiting our ability to address any historical inconsistencies."

DRINKS ON US: EEAST staff toast their successful coffee and cake morning for charity Macmillan

Sweet success for EEAST cake sale

AMBULANCE staff swapped their medical uniforms to become baristas for a charity coffee and cake morning.

East of England Ambulance Service NHS Trust crews baked hundreds of cakes and sold them at Harlow ambulance station.

Trading in the staff room, the hospital accident and emergency department, fire and police stations and also to the general public the crews managed to raise a tasty £700.

Funds will be donated to Macmillan Cancer Support, a fortnight ahead of the charity's World's Biggest Coffee Morning.

Grace Reed, event organiser, said: "We smashed last year's total of £250 which is fantastic news, it was a hugely successful morning."

"I'd like to thank everyone for their contributions."

Ms Reed was helped by colleagues Jo Townsend and Sharon Kemp to organise the morning on Tuesday, September 13.

Macmillan is one of Britain's largest charities and provides specialist health care, information and financial support to people affected by cancer.

The World's Biggest Coffee Morning takes place on Friday, September 30.

Charity takes spoils of runner's Sahara trek

A HARLOW charity has collected the fruits of a runner's labour across the Sahara Desert.

John Hewlett completed the 156-mile Marathon Des Sables in aid of Street 2 Homes, a service to support the town's homeless based in Wych Elm, Harlow.

In June Harlow Inner Wheel Club, the ladies side of Harlow Rotary Club, welcomed John who is the son of Bettina Hewlett, a past president of the fund and awareness-raising group.

Club president Jean Hudspeth last week handed over a cheque for £500 to Janice Fearway, Harlow Streets 2 Homes' secretary and trustee.

This was the amount raised by Mr Hewlett who addressed members of the club who meet in David Livingstone Church Centre, Maddox Road, Harlow.

Members were inspired to hear of the trek.

Inner Wheel Clubs are established in many countries and the fundraising theme for 2016 is Touch a Heart.

Anne Crawford, club correspondent, said: "Harlow Streets 2 Homes provides a safe and friendly environment.

"Homeless people can be assisted in finding accommodation. There is also a day centre providing access to employment advice, health services, washing facilities, food, clothing and support."

Tragic events reflected upon in annual town civic service

THE chairman of Harlow Council conducted the Civic Service in a sombre mood following tragic events in the town.

The annual event was attended by John Petre, the Lord Lieutenant of Essex, Lorna Rolfe, the High Sheriff of Essex and led by councillor Edna Stevens, chairman of Harlow Council.

Held at St Paul's Church in the town centre, the occasion is often a celebration of achievements or look to the future.

But after the death of Polish-born Harlow man Arkadiusz Jozwik on August 29, following an attack at The Stow, Harlow, on August 27, the function took a different tone.

Councillor Jon Clempner, leader of Harlow Council, addressed the audience and spoke on the topic of harmony, which was the theme for the 2016 service.

He said: "The last few weeks have been a difficult time.

"In wake of this, some sections of the media, and some other voices, have labelled Harlow as a divided town."

He added: "The voices that seek to divide our community, that denigrate others, that resort to violence are few, but they are loud.

"They need to be drowned out by the voices of unity, of community and of harmony. I know Harlow will rise to the challenge."

Multiplex opening coming soon for eager film fanatics

Shopping centre cinema to show latest movies

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

SOME thought the day would never come but film-lovers have been promised the new Harvey Centre cinema will be open in December.

Last month building firm Speller Metcalfe handed over the site to Cineworld to apply the finishing touches to their six-screen multiplex.

Eleven years after the West Gate Odeon closed, the latest films are coming back to the town centre in an investment which will enhance Harlow's night time economy.

The cinema forms part of a new development called The Terrace on level one of the Harvey Centre and will be joined by a number of restaurants, one of which has been confirmed as American diner Tinseltown.

Bryan Young, Harvey Centre manager, said: "This is a really exciting time for Harlow.

"We've always had limited night time leisure to offer in the town but when the cinema opens this will transform dramatically."

A December opening date would coincide with the release of new Star Wars film Rogue One and video game adaption Assassin's Creed.

The Terrace has already welcomed Chinese restaurant Kung Fu which has enjoyed a busy trade in its first months.

Mr Young added: "Harlow will become a bustling town where people want to come after work with friends and family to eat and drink in a variety of family friendly restaurants before checking out the latest blockbuster at Cineworld."

The Harvey Centre, which currently locks up before 10pm, will stay open until midnight to accommodate later film screenings at Cineworld.

Plans for a new cinema in the shopping centre were originally shared four years ago but it has only been in the last 18 months that the project has significantly moved forward.

At the peak of construction Speller Metcalfe had 60 staff working at the site, which is above the Harvey Centre Tesco.

Large white hoardings have been placed around the site for months fuelling the curiosity of shoppers. Recently a glass panel unveiled the cinema's ticket office for the first time.

Cineworld's team will now install seats, carpets, furnishings and projectors after Speller Metcalfe built the foundations and completed sound proofing.

Independent and chain restaurants are still being offered the chance to move into The Terrace with units available.

Businesses interested should contact Graham Campbell from Fleurets on 020 7280 4700, Chris Hovington from GCW on 0207 647 4805 or Anthony Appleby from Brasier Freeth LLP on 020 828 8531 for more information.

Speller Metcalfe manager Phil Turner said: "It has been a challenging and interesting job. It has been tricky because there is a lot of metal that has gone into this space."

APOCALYPTIC: Glenn Close in The Girl With All The Gifts

THE GIRL WITH ALL THE GIFTS (15, 111 mins)

Adapted for the screen by Liverpoolian author Mike Carey from his novel of the same title, The Girl With All The Gifts is a dystopian horror thriller directed by Colm McCarthy, which was predominantly filmed on location in the West Midlands.

In the near future, humanity has been almost wiped out by a fungal infection that has reduced most of the population to carnivorous predators known as "hungries". The contagion is spread through blood and saliva and victims relinquish all control, craving the taste of human flesh. The exception is a group of children, who have retained their mental powers and can control their urges, so long as they can't pick up the scent of human prey.

Dr Caroline Caldwell (Glenn Close) is in charge of conducting cruel experiments on these children at a heavily protected military base in rural England. Her goal is to discover a scientific means to battle the hordes of "hungries" that patrol the countryside around the base. School teacher Helen Justineau (Gemma Arterton) is one of the on-site staff, who helps the children to come to terms with their condition and prepare them for adulthood. She grows especially fond of a ten-year-old girl called Melanie (Sennia Nanua), who possesses a genius IQ level despite being infected.

When the security of the base is compromised, Dr Caldwell, Caroline and Melanie escape the bloodbath with the help of Sergeant Eddie Parks (Paddy Considine). Together, they must journey across perilous terrain, in search of a new refuge from the slaughter.

DEEPWATER HORIZON (12A, 108 mins)

Director Peter Berg and leading man Mark Wahlberg, who collaborated on the wartime drama Lone Survivor, reunite for this action-packed disaster thriller based on the true events of April 20, 2010, which resulted in the deaths of 11 oil platform workers and the most catastrophic oil spill in American history.

Engineer Mike Williams (Wahlberg) kisses his beautiful wife Felicia (Kate Hudson) goodbye before he boards a helicopter that will take him to the BP-owned and operated drilling platform Deepwater Horizon located approximately 40 miles off the coast of Louisiana. The other passengers include installation manager Jimmy Harrell (Kurt Russell) and third mate Andrea Fleytas (Gina Rodriguez). Once they land, Jimmy becomes concerned that BP officials, including well site leader Donald Vidrine (John Malkovich), have not carried out enough checks on the drill to ensure it is operating safely. He orders a test, which brings back concerning yet inconclusive results.

Reluctantly, he gets the go ahead to continue drilling. Crew members including Jason Anderson (Ethan Suplee) and Caleb Holloway (Dylan O'Brien) attempt to make up for lost time, but a massive blow-out unleashes hell upon the 121-metre long rig. Survivors of the initial blast race against time to lower lifeboats into the water before flames engulf the entire structure.

IMPERIUM (15, 106 mins)

Daniel Radcliffe shaves his head and sheds his nice guy screen image from the Harry Potter franchise in first-time director Daniel Ragussis's gritty thriller about an FBI agent who infiltrates a group of white supremacists in order to gather intelligence on their terrorist activities. Nate Foster (Daniel Radcliffe) is desperate to impress his superiors at the FBI, but his latest assignment fails to generate the results he had hoped for.

Hard-nosed supervisor Angela Zamparo (Toni Collette) is impressed though and she asks Nate to go undercover to investigate rumours that one particular group of extremists have acquired a radioactive isotope and are planning to build a dirty bomb. Their target is a right-wing radio host called Dallas Wolf (Tracy Letts), who supposedly knows the people who are building the device.

Nate undergoes a radical transformation to try to fit in with the various groups of Neo-Nazi factions, including one group led by Gerry Conway (Sam Trammell). In order to maintain his cover, the agent must break the law and there are increasing amounts of blood on his hands as he edges to completing his mission.

SWAGGERING: Denzel Washington plays bounty hunter Sam Chisolm in Antoine Fuqua's remake of The Magnificent Seven

Stylish reboot for a classic western

The Magnificent Seven

WESTERN: (12A) 133 minutes

Director: Antoine Fuqua

Starring: Denzel Washington, Chris Pratt, Ethan Hawke, Byung-hun Lee, Vincent D'Onofrio

Towards the bullet-riddled conclusion of director Antoine Fuqua's stylish western remake, a voiceover dreamily recalls the self-sacrifice and heroism of seven righteous men, who laid down their lives for a town in jeopardy.

"It was magnificent," gushes the film's narrator:

That's going a little far.

In its bombastic latest incarnation, The Magnificent Seven lassos a stellar cast and a rollicking soundtrack composed by the late, great James Horner and completed by his good friend, Simon Franglen.

Action sequences are orchestrated at a canter and Richard Wenk and Nic Pizzolatto's script introduces some moments of bone dry humour in between the frenetic shoot-outs.

It's an entertaining ride, but Fuqua struggles to distinguish his battle royale between morally conflicted men from the countless westerns that have trotted down this same narrative trail.

Oscar-winner Denzel Washington, who won his golden statuette in Fuqua's 2001 film Training Day, is a swaggering, physically imposing hero, driven to his suicidal actions in the name of retribution.

He is matched, verbal blow-for-blow, by Peter Sarsgaard as the glowering villain of the piece, who demonstrates his wanton disregard for human life in a brutal, unflinching opening act.

The year is 1879 and the scars of the American Civil War are yet to heal.

The God-fearing folk of Rose Creek seek solace in church, but the spiritual peace is shattered by the arrival of greedy industrialist Bartholomew Bogue (Sarsgaard) and his goons, who intend to drive families out of their homes.

"Twenty dollars for each parcel of land," Bogue tells the enraged congregation, shooting dead several dissenters, including faithful husband Matthew Cullen (Matt Bomer).

Grieving widow Emma Cullen (Haley Bennett) and her friend Teddy (Luke Grimes) canter to neighbouring Amador City to enlist the services of bounty hunter Sam Chisolm (Washington) to kill Bogue.

"You don't need a bounty hunter, you need an army," scoffs Chisolm, who has crossed paths with the industrialist before.

Moved by Emma's tearful plight, the gunslinger corrals six men of dubious character to wage war in Rose Creek: compulsive gambler Josh Farraday (Chris Pratt), sharp shooter Goodnight Robicheaux (Ethan Hawke), assassin Billy Rocks (Byung-hun Lee), tracker Jack Horne (Vincent D'Onofrio), Mexican outlaw Vasquez (Manuel Garcia-Rulfo) and Comanche warrior Red Harvest (Martin Sensmeier).

The scene is set for a rootin' tootin' showdown between the rival factions.

The Magnificent Seven rests comfortably on the shoulders of Washington and his co-stars.

Pratt continues to pigeonhole himself as Hollywood's favourite wisecracking action man and Hawke and Lee catalyse a fascinating and flawed double-act. Sarsgaard chews scenery as if it were tobacco.

The script is peppered with well-heeled one-liners – "Fame is a sarcophagus" – and the final assault on a besieged Rose Creek packs in sufficient excitement to warrant staying in the saddle for 133 minutes.

Incredible true story of triumph and daring

BUDDING ROMANCE: Tom Hughes and Emma Greenwell in Dare To Be Wild

Dare To Be Wild

DRAMA/ROMANCE: (PG)

100 minutes

Director: Vivienne DeCourcy
Starring: Emma Greenwell, Tom Hughes, Christine Marzano, Lorna Quinn, Janie Dee, Alex MacQueen, Brendan Collard, Alaa Safi

In the pantheons of landscape and garden design, Mary Reynolds is the horticultural equivalent of a rock star.

In 2002, she became a cause celebre with her first entry at the RHS Chelsea Flower Show – a Celtic sanctuary garden steeped in mysticism and full of rambling wild flowers, moss and hawthorn trees, accessed via a stone circular arch.

Her intention, to recapture the untouched splendour of the countryside that has been lost in formal modern gardens, struck a chord and sowed the seeds of a design movement dedicated to natural simplicity.

Writer-director Vivienne DeCourcy's sun-dappled drama chronicles Reynolds' remarkable journey from the rambling landscapes of West Cork to the leafy sprawl of SW3 London, via the arid deserts of eastern Africa.

It's an incredible true story of triumph and daring against convention.

Alas, the spirit of adventure and steely determination that propelled Reynolds to glory fails to germinate in DeCourcy's gently paced and occasionally twee script.

A budding romance between two characters doesn't achieve full bloom and the film's dramatic crescendo – the race to construct the garden in time for judging – lacks any sense of urgency.

From a young age, Mary Reynolds (Emma Greenwell) is inspired by her father to cherish the natural world and her Celtic roots.

She sketches magical gardens in a notebook and when the time comes to spread her wings, Mary secures a job working with Charlotte Heavey (Christine Marzano), garden designer to the rich and fabulous.

Charlotte exploits her protégée's talent and shamelessly steals design elements and passes them off as her own genius.

"Make sure you're not ripped off," best friend Eve (Lorna Quinn) warns Mary to no avail.

When the position falls through, Mary nurtures a dream to create a garden at the coveted Chelsea Flower Show.

With the help of Marigold

(Janie Dee), secretary to stuffy Chelsea committee member Nigel Hogg (Alex MacQueen), Mary gains an invitation to compete with her revolutionary design.

She enlists the help of handsome botanist Christy Collard (Tom Hughes) and his father Mike (Brendan Somers) to source native plants and materials, and transport them safely across the Irish Sea.

They have just 80 days to secure £250,000 of sponsorship and a further three weeks to turn a plot of flat earth into Mary's ambitious vision.

However, the project relies on wanderer Christy, who is spearheading a project to reclaim the Ethiopian desert.

Dare To Be Wild looks magnificent, but our interest wilts well before the flower show judges bestow their coveted gold medals.

Greenwell is instantly endearing and she makes an attractive pairing with Hughes, but their on-screen chemistry doesn't justify Mary's obsession to build her garden with Christy at her side.

Potential dramatic conflict in the second hour with Marzano's manipulative boss oddly comes to naught.

DVD RELEASE OF THE WEEK

LOVE AND FRIENDSHIP

COMEDY/DRAMA/ROMANCE: (U, 93 MINS), DVD £19.99, BLU-RAY £24.99 OR ON-DEMAND FROM VARIOUS STREAMING SERVICES

SCHEMING widow Lady Susan Vernon (Kate Beckinsale) is concerned about rumours that have begun to circulate about her relationship with smitten suitor, Lord Manwaring (Lochlann O'Mearain). She seeks refuge with her late husband's family on their vast estate. Charles Vernon (Justin Edwards) is blind to Lady Susan's underhand tactics but his wife, Catherine (Emma Greenwell), is less trusting, especially when their house guest charms her younger brother, Reginald (Xavier Samuel). Reginald's parents (James Fleet, Jemma Redgrave) are equally horrified by the prospect of their son fraternising with a minx.

Complicating matters, Lady Susan must find a wealthy suitor for her daughter, Frederica (Morfydd Clark). She resolves to force a love match with Sir James Martin (Tom Bennett) aided by her unshockable confidante, Alicia Johnson (Chloe Sevigny).

Love and Friendship is a delicious period romantic comedy, based on Jane Austen's novella Lady Susan. The lead character's complete lack of scruples in a world where appearances are everything and rumour can scorch a lady's reputation beyond repair is a delight to behold.

Beckinsale savours ever acid-laced bon mot with relish, observing that "facts are horrid things" as she stacks one tiny fib atop another. Every back-handed compliment lands like a sharp slap to the chops, eliciting so much laughter in some scenes that a couple of zinging one-liners are lost in our mounting delirium. Period detail and costumes are impeccable, but it is writer-director Whit Stillman's riotous reinvention of Austen's little-known novella that glitters brightest.

Everyday tale of good versus evil

THOMPSON Promotions' latest play is a classic battle of good against evil but performed in a way like you've never seen before.

On a fictional London council estate a local community is battling to save their homes from the clutches of a greedy father and son property development pairing.

Think the good guys versus Alan Sugar or Donald Trump, with a detestably smug Farage-esque councillor thrown into the mix for bad measure.

It's not Homes Under the Hammer but Rearrange the Furniture, a play written and directed by Andrew Prangnell, which will be performed for the first time at The Victoria Hall Theatre, Bury Road, Harlow, from Wednesday, September 28 until Saturday, October 1.

Jim Thompson, show producer and company manager, said: "It is a story of fathers and sons set against a backdrop of a local community battling against the local council and property developers as they try to save their homes."

"Like any good modern tale, we have the battle between the good and the greedy, a mix of strong themes and flashes of humour that has become synonymous with Andrew's plays."

"Andrew originally wanted to do a story that looked at the relationships between fathers and sons but he was struggling to attach it to.

"But he discovered in some areas of London there is a situation where as a result of housing people are having to move out of the area."

Andrew decided the two storylines were perfect to tie together for the play.

Jim continued: "Some of the people have been there for many years and some younger characters too who have lived there all their lives."

"The residents all come together to take on the housing association."

Forty-year-old Jim has a long association with Victoria Hall and this will be the third time his own company has performed at the venue. Andrew is incidentally his neighbour with both men living in Halling Hill, Harlow.

While previous productions have been pure comedies Rearrange the Furniture is a gripping drama about a serious topic with the occasional comic moment.

Twelve actors play 11 parts, including Jim as a villainous councillor. "Rehearsals have been going extremely well," he continued.

"We have been working individually and in different groups for a long time but things now get to cross over so it is now nice to come together."

"As far as the actors are

PEOPLE POWER: A community takes on a property developer in Rearrange the Furniture concerned they have found the characters to get into. It's very much about the group ensemble. There is not one central character that it revolves around.

"I am appearing in it and producing it. I am playing the villain of the piece and it's great to play someone where you can understand where they are coming from and doing what they are doing."

"Councillor Drayton has this smarmy smugness of knowing he is right, he has got an answer for any argument. I think the audience are going to really hate him."

Jim, a professional entertainment manager when he's not involved in Thompson Promotions, added:

"When I first set up the company it was intended for me to direct without any outside pressures affecting it.

"Everything is performed at Victoria Hall and we all feel a responsibility to keep it going. It's me that's putting the money into it and hopefully we can break even!"

Thompson Promotions traditionally raises awareness for a charity with every play and it is fitting that Jim chose to support homeless help service Streets 2 Homes for Rearrange the Furniture.

All money from the performance will be donated to the Harlow charity.

Tickets are on sale now and cost £11 full price and £9 for concessions. For bookings and more information call 0333 666 3366 or visit www.ticketsource.co.uk/tpromotions.

Fresh whites to go with your catch of the day...

Sam Wylie-Harris fishes out some wonderful white wines to enjoy with shellfish and seafood

September steers us in many directions, but with an 'R' in the month – which means the start of oyster season – it's the perfect time to plunder the fruits of the sea and school ourselves on whites that work wonders with shellfish.

Scales or no scales, our seafood stalls are brimming with native oysters and mussels, which are back on the menu along with firm white fish such as skate and monkfish, not to mention crab, prawns and plaice. Before you set sail, here are some fresh whites to compliment your catch of the day...

PROPERTY TALK

>with NIGEL LEWIS

Did Coco go for a cruise on this?

Born in a poorhouse, the 20th century's most famous fashion designer Coco Chanel's life was a true rags to riches tale.

A tough businesswoman with a flair for sewing, she hit the big-time and joined French high society, amassing a $19bn fortune before her death in 1971, making her one of the richest women of all time. Witty and mesmerizing, Chanel became muse, patron, or mistress to the century's most celebrated artists, including Picasso, Dalí, and Stravinsky.

Another of her affairs was with American entrepreneur Harrison Williams, who in 1929 was the richest man in America, controlling nearly one-sixth of all American utilities. Williams also moved in high circles and was friends with Edward VIII, who stayed at his home during American trips.

Williams owned this houseboat, The New Yorker - built in 1928 and one of a handful of surviving 'flyers' of about 300 ever made that were used by wealthy businessmen to commute from their seaside mansions to marinas in Manhattan.

The 66ft motor yacht had a spell in service during World War Two when it helped the British government rescue stranded sailors, but went back into private ownership and has been a houseboat in recent years. The current owner has given the interiors plenty of TLC and fitted the boat with a modern engine. With a price tag of £750,000, it now has 591sq ft of accommodation with two bedrooms, bathroom, reception room and kitchen, as well as a front and rear deck.

Live in a bit of Lennon history

JOHN Lennon's wedding day to first wife Cynthia was far from swinging. The 1962 ceremony at the Mount Pleasant Register office in Liverpool had fellow Beatles McCartney and George Harrison as guests with manager Brian Epstein, best man, but the couple didn't have any flowers or a photographer.

The wedding party celebrated afterwards in Reece's restaurant, which wasn't licensed to serve alcohol, so guests had to toast the couple with water. And the newlyweds didn't even get a honeymoon, as Lennon had to play a gig at the Riverpark Ballroom in Chester that night.

Cynthia Lennon, who died last year, met Lennon at Liverpool Art College and while the Beatle was performing in Hamburg, rented his bedroom from his aunt Mimi Smith. They married after she became pregnant, but when Beatlemania took off, she had to deny being his wife. After several affairs, Lennon cheated on her with Yoko, prompting a swift divorce in 1968 when she got £100,000.

In the centre of Liverpool, Reece's was a multi-floor restaurant where the first-floor became a dance hall at weekends. It closed in the 1980s and later became shops, but developers are now turning it into 91 studio and one bedroom open-plan apartments and have just got permission for a rooftop extension so flats on the top floors will get panoramic skyline views.

With prices from £64,950 for a studio to £99,950 for a one bed, they're hoping to attract young professionals and first-time buyers with furniture packages and on-site 24/7 concierge.

Where Partridge was shot

AS ALAN Partridge might have said, 'welcome to the places of my life'. In 2013 Steve Coogan's alter-ego 'bounced back' from a nervous breakdown during his first cinematic outing, which was a box office hit.

Alan Partridge: Alpha Papa promised fans 'action', 'cops', 'ruddy danger' and 'textbook Alan' when the hapless hero tried to salvage his public career while negotiating a potentially violent turn of events at work. This included Partridge standing up to an estranged employee who had refused to leave and who then held 12 of his co-workers hostage.

The production company subsequently revealed that fans could expect a second helping of Partridge, although there's been no news on a sequel since.

But rather than taking place in his beloved Norwich, the film was actually shot in Mitcham, in the London borough of Merton. Brook House posed as North Norfolk Digital, with the exterior used as the radio station. Now developed into luxury flats, it overlooks the cricket green and is near tram and train stations all within the Mitcham Conservation Area.

The one and two bedroom apartments range in price from £220,000 to £300,000, and have their own parking space, large bedrooms and a communal area. Ready to move in later this year, the developers reckon there'll be high rental demand for the properties which also have an audio/video door entry system.

LIGHT FANTASTIC: Introduce a statement metal light fitting to bring together contemporary and traditional pieces. Lightshade from a selection available from the Taylors ETC showroom

Change is coming

Designing your ultimate home is no mean feat. And just when you think you have it exactly how you want it, a new interiors trend sweeps in and has you reaching for the paint swatches, step ladders and aspirational home magazines before you can say DIY SOS.

Like fashion, the interiors world is ever-changing; with new trends emerging all the time as others fall out of favour.

However, your home isn't an item of throw-away clothing that can simply be replaced as the seasons change. It's a haven, somewhere to relax and unwind after everything the working week has to throw at you.

But as the autumnal air descends and the night draws in, there is no doubt change is on the way.

However, as I advise my interior design clients, change doesn't have to be big.

Subtle improvements here and there can keep your home bang on trend without breaking the bank and, more importantly, eating in to your precious spare time.

So for a quick, yet stylish, fix here are my picks of the easy-to-achieve autumnal trends heading our way.

Weave right now

A passion for weave has been around for some time but this season we'll see this trend expand with chunky knits and patterned fabrics.

Kilim – bright, flat-woven textiles made in the region spanning from the Balkans to Pakistan – is set to be huge.

Traditionally, Kilim referred to rugs but with the trend set to go global you can find all manner of coverings inspired by it – from cushions and pillow covers to curtains and poufs.

If bright colours just aren't your thing, try incorporating chunky knits to complement your existing furnishings and colour scheme. Handcrafted pieces are going to be massive this season so knit your own if you have the skills (and the time). You can get patterns for homewares including seat coverings, rugs and even laundry baskets from most haberdasheries, and you can always brush up your skills with a few free YouTube tutorials.

The finished product will give your home a real cosy feel, key if you wish to achieve the Danish 'Hygge' look – another trend set to be popular this winter.

Marble effect

Marble is massive at the moment and it's a trend that shows no sign of slowing.

In the past, this versatile beauty has often been used as a fairly pricey countertop in the kitchen but now you can snap up reasonably-priced marble-inspired furnishings for the whole house. Clocks, coasters, even toothbrush holders are all available in marble and will all add an instant boost in trend appeal without costing too much money or creating too much work.

ON TREND: Mixed materials and cosy knits will be huge this autumn

If you are looking to take on a slightly larger project, such as updating the kitchen or bathroom, marble tiles are always a sound choice.

The Baked Tile Company has marble-effect wall and floor coverings that will make a beautiful splashback in the kitchen or a feature wall in the bathroom.

Mix not match

Mixing materials is going to be huge this autumn. Forget a polished, uniform look and pull together key pieces in clashing materials.

The kitchen is a great room to try this look. If you have a sleek, contemporary kitchen try adding an upcycled wooden crate for extra storage or a vintage copper kettle. If you have a more traditional kitchen introduce a bold lighting pendant in shiny metal or some modern bar stools.

Remember, it doesn't have to be a massive change to achieve the designer look. Small changes can have a huge effect.

COSY KNITS: Chunky knits will not only add texture but warmth too as the weather turns colder

LUXE: Our fixation with marble shows no sign of abating. These marble effect tiles are from The Baked Tile Company, www.bakedtiles.co.uk

GET THE LOOK

Lesley's top tips for autumn

- Tread carefully. Trends come and go so start small before incorporating the look across your entire property.
- DIY has never been so literal. Handcrafting is set to be huge so have a go at creating your own bespoke chunky knits and artwork.
- Think cosy. Not only is this bang on trend but will keep your home feeling warm in the winter months.
- Invest wisely. Don't spend a fortune on pieces that will soon be out of fashion.
- But if you do fall in love with pricey pieces, go for it. You won't regret spending cash on something you adore.

TOTALLY TERRIFIC

TESTED Audi TT RS

By Chris Russon

Audi is taking its TT roadster and coupe into supercar territory with new range-topping RS models.

At £51,800 for the coupe and £53,550 for the roadster, the RS is some £20,000 more expensive than the basic TT – but this one is in the same league as Audi's mighty V10 R8 and that will set you back more than £110,000.

The new TT is the quickest Audi RS model ever and can smash the 0 to 60 barrier in just 3.7 seconds on its way to a theoretical maximum of 174mph.

But enough of the figures, of which there are plenty. What the TT RS is really about is extremes – extreme performance, extreme ability and extreme fun.

Out on the Jarama race track just to the north of the Spanish capital, Madrid and scene of some epic Grand Prix tussles in the 1970s involving legends such as Gilles Villeneuve, Jacques Laffite and John Watson, the RS showed its mettle in no uncertain fashion.

The TT RS is no stranger to race car technology – blisteringly quick in a straight line yet agile and nimble through the tightest corners.

Grip is enhanced not just by quattro all-wheel-drive but also with a vectoring system which produces some unbelievable traction.

Just a glance at the cockpit reveals that this is a car out of the norm and one that is very special.

The starter button is mounted on the sports-style, alcantara covered steering wheel and sits opposite the car's drive mode selector – the button which releases maximum venom.

Switch the virtual instrument panel into RS mode and the information is all track related. Dials for the power, torque and G force and a lap timer replace the more conventional layout for the road.

Unleash the power – and there's 400 horsepower to go at – and the TT RS surges into life emitting a marvellous roar from its twin exhaust nacelles.

There's a 'noise button' for added effect but the thrill of the chase is enough. The car is delightfully balanced and even close to the limits there's little load up on the steering.

Stopping power comes from high performance brakes – carbon ceramics are an option – and slick gear changes fire out of the seven speed dual clutch transmission either in auto mode or from the paddle shifters.

It's all honed for performance and enough to make the eyes pop on the most demanding of drivers. In every aspect the RS is as good as the R8 – just £50,000 cheaper.

The engine in the TT RS is a new take on the legendary 2.5-litre five cylinder block that powered the quattrons of old. Not only does it sound so distinctive it is now turbo charged to the hilt giving the car a power to weight ratio of 277ps per tonne.

There's a fraction of lag as the RS takes off but if anything that helps its manners for everyday driving. Full bore arrives at 1,700 revs and from that point on the power delivery is relentless.

Top speed is restricted to 155mph but the RS can be unfettered by Audi Sport's technicians to release its full 174mph potential.

Magnetic ride is another option for smoother damping and the RS sits almost half an inch lower than a regular TT.

Huge air scoops dominate the lower portion of the nose while aerodynamics are assisted by flared sills and a boot mounted spoiler suspended on double struts. It can be replaced by a pop-up spoiler as fitted to other TTs as a covert touch.

Nineteen inch rims are standard, 20-inch wheels an option and the RS looks every bit the performance machine it is, set off with a honeycomb grille and some discreet badging.

At the back the TT RS is the first Audi to make use of organic LED (OLED) tail lamps which incorporate carbon coated elements to produce a stand out design complete with tiny Audi logos and TT legends.

The cockpit is fully connected including wi-fi and on the roadster Audi has fitted microphones into the seatbelt webbing to enhance speech quality when driving top down.

A Bang and Olufsen audio system is standard fit and so is leather upholstery embossed with the RS mark.

On the road the TT RS is as accomplished as they come. Not only is it quicker than the likes of the Mercedes-AMG SLC, the BMW Z4 and Porsche's Cayman and Boxster it also drives with great precision. Only the Porsche is a match in terms of all round dynamics.

The roadster is marginally slower 0 to 60 at 3.9 seconds and slightly thirstier. Audi claims an official fuel return of 34mpg with emissions of 189g/km while the coupe is rated at 34.4mpg (187g/km).

However, such economy is going to be optimistic given the car's craving for performance and enjoying it to the full we managed to achieve an average of just 18 to the gallon in the roadster.

A more sedate drive in the coupe realised close on 30 to the gallon. Both versions have stop/start systems to help out in traffic but this is a car whose forte is out on the open road.

Compared to the previous RS iteration of the TT, the new model is bigger and better all round, is slightly lighter and has boot space ranging from 305 to 712 litres in the coupe (280 litres in the roadster).

In every way it sets a new standard for Audi sports cars and is sure to become one of the most cherished high performance models to carry the four ring marque.

YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 20
Something you were not looking forward to will turn out to be a great source of delight and enjoyment for the rest of the year. You have been under immense pressure but, as the coming days pass, you prove you're a sign born to live life to the full, not wallow in self pity. Jupiter replaces missing funds by Friday. Ring now to hear who you should not rely on at this time.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21
Communications are not what they should be, so your words and actions could be easily misconstrued. If you want a job doing properly, then it may be better to do it yourself. You have worked too hard to let others ruin your reputation now Taurus. Lost possessions turn up in unexpected places. Ring now to hear how the Sun blesses reconciliations.

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21
Many of the signs are going to be trying to lead you astray, but they can only succeed if you let them. Be aware of all you are agreeing to or you could end up with egg on your face. The chance to try your hand at something new should be accepted and could in fact turn out to be just what the doctor ordered. Ring now to hear why it would not be a good idea to chance that this week.

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22
There is a really generous feel to your nature over the coming days, but just make sure it doesn't turn into a quillone one. A debt you were hoping to avoid may be better settled, as your reputation is at stake, more than you may realise. Cash flow problems at the weekend can be solved if you do your sums sooner rather than later. Ring now to hear whose friendship I think is false.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23
It's a week in which to think about the way you present yourself to those you meet. It could also be a good time to redo your cv and update your status on any work related social media. You can reach those who have the power to help you make that all important crossover. A better mood is evident and could be due to the influence of a certain person. Ring now to hear how compatible they are.

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22
An expensive week, but also a worthwhile one as you get to see how much higher you can afford to aim. Careful of those you work with trying to steal your ideas. You may be better to play your cards closer to your chest for now. A change to family dynamics brings a different feel to your inner circle from Tuesday. Ring now to better understand the opportunity your stars bring.

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23
There is a really intense feel to your chart which may make it hard for you to know who is friend and who is foe. Why do you have to judge so soon Libra? The truth is, you don't. Be true to you and follow your dreams. This is one week where patience really is a virtue. Contact from someone you never expected to hear from again brings surprise and a smile. Ring now, we have lots to talk about.

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21
Don't waste time and money on those who give nothing back to your life. Friendships and relationships should be a two way street. If you have pride in you, then others will have to show you respect. Lie down and be walked over and of course they will treat you like a doormat. Gemini prove an asset to family dramas. Ring now to find out why this is such a special time for family.

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20
Someone you didn't want to have to see again enters your circle and you may feel as if you have to entertain them for the sake of those you do care for. Not so. Reason for you being able to take such a stubborn stand become clear on Sunday. An old talent comes into use on Friday and can put life back into your social circle. Ring now so I can help you benefit from this busy week.

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20
Try to be careful of acting on gossip you hear, as many of the signs are talking for the sake of it and will say what they have to in order to look good. Trust in old business contacts to tie up deals and get the job done. Fellow Capricorns can and will keep your secrets if you feel the need to share them. Ring now to hear why it's such a special time where young faces in your life are concerned.

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19
You have been listening to everyone's advice but your own and it would be a good idea for you to spend some time alone to remember what your original plan was. By going back to the beginning of your story you will see with ease what the next step should be. Emotions on Thursday could see you saying things you regret. Hold back. Ring now so I can bring calm and peace.

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20
There is a far more comfortable feeling to your personal life than we have seen in months and this can only have a positive effect on your relationships and finances. You have the power to change the mind of even the most stubborn of faces, so put your time and energy where you know its most needed and beneficial. Ring now for more on this forward thinking chapter you are in.

Patience pays off for Harlow goalscorers

Bishop and Antoine secure point against ten men

Ryman Premier

Hendon 2
Harlow Town 2

by Matt Storey

matt.storey@hertsexnews.co.uk

ASSISTANT manager Spencer Knight believed his Harlow Town side were always going to get an equaliser once Hendon were reduced to ten men on Tuesday night.

The late equaliser helped Harlow bounce back from a disappointing 1-0 FA Cup defeat at King's Lynn on Saturday, a game that saw both sides reduced to nine men in the dying stages.

The Hawks were 2-1 down going into the final ten minutes at Hendon before the hosts had a man sent off and Leon Antoine equalised in the 87th minute.

Kieran Bishop had put Harlow ahead before half-time with his first goal of the season, a spectacular overhead kick.

But Hendon hit back and two second half goals looked to have consigned Harlow to defeat, before Antoine popped up in the final stages to level the game.

Bishop and Antoine have both struggled for first team minutes this season and Knight was delighted the two came up trumps when needed on Tuesday evening.

Patient

"Alex Read wasn't very well so Kieran got his chance," he explained. "He hasn't had a lot of minutes so far this season and he's had to be patient."

"But it was a really good goal and I'm delighted for him, he's come and performed well which is all you can ask."

"It's the same for Leon Antoine, perhaps he hasn't played as much as he would want to, but that's part and parcel of football and tonight he's come on and given us food for thought."

"It's always difficult keeping players happy if they aren't playing regularly and that's a big part of mine and Chappers [Danny Chapman] job."

FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Spencer Knight admitted the duo's goals had given the managerial team plenty to think about. Photo by Vikki Lince

"Some players aren't as patient as others and look to move on; we've lost Sam West and Piers Wixon already this year through a lack of patience."

The game lacked quality in the first half, Spencer McCall hit the post for the hosts before Bishop's bicycle-kick put Harlow ahead after 38 minutes.

Karl Oliyide almost equalised straight away for Hendon as he fired wide, but he didn't have to wait long for his next chance, firing into the bottom corner two minutes after half-time.

And they took the lead with just 20 minutes to go, Carl Seebey beating two players before finishing well off the post.

Hendon midfielder Alfie Young was sent off for two bookable offences with seven minutes remaining, and super-sub Antoine rescued a point for the Hawks just four minutes later, firing into the roof of the net from ten yards out.

The draw means they are unbeaten in four games in the league, and they return to the Harlow Arena for games against Sudbury on Saturday and Needham Market on Tuesday.

Knight is confident their good home form can continue against two sides they know well.

"There's lots of history with both sides from their league-winning campaigns in the last two seasons and I think we owe both of them a result," he added.

"We've been really good and strong at home so far this season so there is no reason we can't take six points from the two games, which would be fantastic and put us in the play-offs hopefully."

In brief

Harlow suffer first defeat

STOWMARKET handed Harlow their first defeat of the season on Saturday as they won a tight game 19-17.

Harlow started well and went ahead through a Danny Smith penalty. But Stowmarket responded and took the lead thanks to a well-worked try, scored under the posts. They made it 14-3 before half-time, with a breakaway score that was once again converted.

Harlow dominated territory and possession at the start of the second half and scored their first try after 50 minutes. Scrum-half Ryan McGlone went over after good interplay from both forwards and backs. Smith converted to reduce the deficit to four points.

Harlow took the lead five minutes later when Kaim Claridge touched the ball down after a dominant driving maul from the pack and Smith converted again to make the score 17-14 with just over 20 minutes to play.

From the restart, Stowmarket took advantage of complacency from Harlow and after some good, tight play they squeezed over in the corner to put Stowmarket back into the lead, and they held on for the win.

The result leaves Harlow fifth in London Three North East after the opening two games.

A depleted Rams team won 41-12 at Chelmsford, Dan Evans scoring two tries.

The Saints also had a spectacular win away from home, beating the Ravens 74-0.

Will doesn't hit the Wall

WILL WALL and Martyn Coulter represented Harlow Running Club in the Kent Coyote Marathon. Wall led the way in 34th place out of 271 finishers in a creditable 3hr 41min 06sec and Coulter was 48th in a personal best time for the distance of 3:49:46.

Meanwhile at the Nuclear Blast, as many 5km laps as you can manage in two hours over an obstacle loaded course with mixed, muddy terrain, Jon Steadman managed to finish two laps in 21th place out of 1483 finishers.

At the hilly Ingatstone five mile, Jamie Jephcott finished in 15th place out of 116 finishers in a superb 32:11. He was followed by Andy Bradley 27th in 34:52, Corinne Jay 32nd and third female in 35:39, John Tennant 40th in 36:24, Graham Saville 47th in 37:31, Colin Moody 49th in 37:56, Debbie Barry 65th and first female vet 55 in 40:39 and Laura Jephcott 108th and first female U18 in 50:18.

SUCCESSFUL: All of Harlow's young judokas returned with medals

Judo players are ready to rumble

Judo

HARLOW Judo Club travelled to Bishop's Stortford to attend an Invitational Red Belt Rumble held by Bishop's Stortford Judo Club.

This was a low level beginner's grade event aimed at novice to up and coming judokas and was open to judo clubs in and around the Hertfordshire and Essex area.

The club entered nine of its young players ranging from eight to 11 years old, and competition was of a good standard from the other clubs.

The young judokas battled hard, showing off their developing judo skills and through sheer determination returned with a haul of four gold medals, four silvers and one bronze.

Macey Brown, eight, Kenzie Deamer, ten, George Franks, nine, and Sam Cobbin-Brown, eight, were the gold medallists, Fleur Salhi, nine, Ralfy Webb, nine, Seth Horsley, nine, and Fionn Healy, 11, picked up the silvers and Bertie Chamberlain, eight, won bronze medals.

Senior coach, Mick Ellis along with junior team manager, Sarah Brown, encouraged the young players who all listened well to instructions and overall, were very pleased with how well they competed.

Sarah Brown was delighted with her young charges, saying: "All the young players put their judo skills into action and through true determination, all took medals home today."

Harlow Judo Club caters for those with special needs and has a Coach specifically in this area.

Fans pack out snooker club to see legend Steve

ONE hundred and eighty fans packed out JP's Snooker Club to watch one of the sport's legends, Steve Davis OBE, host a launch night exhibition.

The club is Harlow's newest snooker club and the six-time world champion rolled back the years to put on a real show.

Jason Pegram, owner of the new club above Dorringtons bakery at The Stow, said: "He puts on the best exhibition."

"He gives you good snooker, humour, trick shots and tells great stories from his days dominating the game."

On the night, eight players got the chance to take on Davis

Rowbotham, Chris Read, Gary Keeble and Darren Wallis as well as former pros Danny Mooney, Lee Richardson and Jason himself.

Davis proved he's still got it and made a 50+ break in every frame and a top break of 90. Only Richardson managed to beat him, winning the frame on the final deciding black ball.

"It was a top night. We had 20 ex-pros in the building, including Peter Ebdon, and there was some good banter flying around," explained Pegram.

"We raised more than £300 for Alzheimer's Society, showed the boxing match between Kell Brook and Gennady Golovkin and had a Dutch singer Mario Veltman here performing, who finished second in Holland's Got Talent in 2009."

He hopes his club can become a real snooker hotbed in the coming years and already has seven teams competing in local leagues as well as three current professional tour players (Hammad Miah, Sam Craigie and Elliot Slessor) using the facilities.

"Hammad is our resident pro here, but others are coming to practice too," said Jason. "I'm hoping we'll soon have Ronnie O'Sullivan and Liang Wenbo playing here."

LOVING IT: Eadie is enjoying the challenge of the Ryman Premier

'Hawks are capable of much more'

LEFT-BACK Layne Eadie is loving every minute of Harlow's first season back at Ryman Premier level.

Eadie has started all but one of the Hawks' league games this season and admitted to being surprised at just how well they've adapted to the division.

And despite their strong start, Eadie is slightly disappointed that they haven't taken even more points in the opening eight league games this season.

He said: "If you offered 11 points from eight games and to be sitting in eighth at start of season I would have taken it!"

"I know we are capable of more and if I'm being honest we could have had 15 or 20 points."

"In some of the games we haven't performed well or we've missed chances and made mistakes but that's the price you pay at the level we are at, so all in all I think it's a good start."

Delighted

This is Eadie's fourth season at the club and he has made 170 appearances, including a mammoth 60 games last season.

He's played in the National League South for St Albans and was delighted to be playing at this level again, having previously spoken about his desire to break into the football league.

"I'm loving the challenge to be fair, everyone wants to play at the highest level they can."

"It is a big difference in levels from the Ryman South last year but I feel like I am more than capable of playing very well at this level on a consistent basis."

Assistant manager Spencer Knight spoke of the togetherness in the Harlow squad after a heated affair at King's Lynn on Saturday and Eadie echoed his thoughts.

"It's always important to help your friends out and the spirit in the camp is strong, we all want the same thing so that always helps too."

Harlow's point at Hendon on Tuesday (report on page 79) means they haven't won on the road in the league this season.

But Eadie doesn't expect to wait to much longer for that to change.

"Honestly, I didn't even realise until Tuesday that we hadn't won yet in the league. It won't be too long until we do win away from home because we have been unlucky on our travels so far."

CHIASSARO'S BACK AFTER RIO DRAMA

Paralympics experience ends with controversial relay

by Matt Storey & Andrew Franczak

RICHARD CHIASSARO arrived back in England from the Rio Paralympics empty handed, despite producing a brilliant opening leg in the T53/54 4x400m relay.

After touching down on Tuesday with the rest of the team he plans to enjoy some time at home ahead of the Paralympic parades in Manchester on October 17 and in London a day later.

The controversial relay produced one of the talking points of the games as David Weir appeared to run out of steam on the final leg.

Chiassaro had given teammates Nathan Maguire, Moatez Jomni and Weir every chance of qualifying with a blistering start.

But with only the four fastest teams progressing to the final, Canada pipped ParalympicsGB to the final qualifying spot, after Weir stopped the clock in 3min 14.43sec.

Chiassaro said after the relay race: "I went flying round there - I got a higher speed than I did in that 400m heat. I'm just gutted we didn't qualify."

"We performed well but things just aren't going our way at the moment in certain things."

"My [T54] 400m was okay because I was fourth, I was off a medal by a tenth of a second. I got boxed out in the 800m [where he failed to qualify from the heats] and the relay didn't go our way as well."

"I don't know [what went wrong in the relay] you'll have to ask other people about that."

"We knew the top four went through and I went as hard as I could but that's all I've got to say about that."

Assumed

"I assumed that when the French were disqualified that we went through but that wasn't the case. The mood was okay in the quartet."

Weir's post-race interviews caused more controversy as he suggested the camp was far from happy.

He said: "We need to click as a team. I know it's an individual event, but there needs to be no big egos within the team."

"I always praise every athlete to put on a British vest but sometimes I feel like I've been stabbed in the back."

Chiassaro was third in his 100m heat in 14.83 but it was not enough to progress as one of the fastest qualifiers.

He was unlucky not to qualify from his 800m heat, as he was boxed in by other athletes leaving him unable to make a break and he ended up finishing fifth.

The 34-year-old left Rio in upbeat mood, however, saying on Instagram: "Leaving the athletes village it's been great and a pleasure to work with this great team of athletes and staff."
